

[DELAYED] IAN BOOK BELIEVER'S WEEKLY RECAP — YR 4, WK 9

PRAISE THE FATHER,

THE SON,

& THE HOLY SPIRIT

GAME OF THE WEEK

JHAJUAN DEFEATS DEVON 194.55 TO 175.3, BUT HE COULDA HAD MORE

There weren't many great games to choose from sadly. So, the projected game of the week won game of the week, at least.

If Rome Odunze (0.0) didn't put up a donut, Jhajuan would've put up 200+ on Devon and made it a boat race. But even with Odonutze, that white boy in New York (33.15) is keeping the Skattebo legacy alive, while Drake London exploded with 38.8. Jacobs, Brown, and Devin White contributed 20 apiece. Ka'imi Fairbairn dropped 17 and Rashee Rice scored 18.4. A great performance across the board. CMC (34.4), Lamar (35.6), Davante Adams (23), and Roquan (20) tried their best. At least the 22.1 left on the bench in Dalton Kincaid wouldn't have lost you the game Devon. After being 7-0, Devon has lost 2 in a row. Is he washed?

What do you think he's thinking about? Probably how hard he carried Jhajuan's team.

WEEKLY GAMES RECAP

DEJON BARELY PLAYS AGAINST JOEY IN A 132.75 TO 91.3 LOSS

Dejon's quest to be the worst manager in Ian Book Believer's short history is all but completed. 1–8 this year. 4–10 last year. Dejon has to win 3/5 games left to win as many games as last year. You know we don't get top pick based on inverse standings, right? Meanwhile Joey thrived off the Lions offensive firepower and the Colts playing behind.

- Tl;dr: Dejon's team sucks & Joey's Lion's stack carried the day.
- Goff (26.2), Sun god (18.7), Pittman Jr. (20.5), & Jamo (18.1) scored 83.5 combined. 8 points less than Dejon's whole team.
- The Saints offense strategy—Olave (8.7), Kamara (.7) & Shaheed (13.3)—has failed this season.

Me, coping with the fact that I'm Dejon's ONLY WIN.

DYLAN ENDS JOLO'S PLAYOFF HOPES IN A 165.15 TO 112.35 BLOWOUT

Dylan keeps himself in the hunt for the playoffs while Jolo's season is effectively over. You'd think a team with Gibbs (5.8) and Kyren (17.4) would be good, but when your WRs are that bad you can see why this team is 2-7. Dylan has a tough ROS (Dejon, David M, David G, Devon, Ben) and is starting backup RB Chuba Hubbard while wondering what's happening with BTJ. But if Dylan keeps winning (3 out of the last 4) maybe he can make some noise. This game technically qualifies for upset of the week, and it can have that award but Jolo was starting fucking Wan'Dale Robinson and Troy Franklin man.

- Tl;dr: Two words: Brock Bowers (43.3), Sam Darnold (36.5)–Must see T.V.
- The Bijan trade haul netted 10.2 points combined. BTJ had 8.5; Chuba had 1.7. Cam Skattebo has been declared a saint, however.
- Gibbs (5.8) and Daniels (14.75) disappointed, but Monangai (22.8) boomed, which is cool. He could be a great keeper for next year.

Still can't believe Dylan got this man for nothing...

"Shout out to that boy Brock. ... try to enjoy the show. That's a once-in-a-lifetime type player," Meyers said. "He just [does] all the little things right. He's a really good player, a really good dude. I've got a son now, hopefully he turns out somewhat like that." Inspirational.

DAVID G BEATS VIC 131.75 TO 112.5 ON HIS MICKEY MOUSE RUN

Somehow David G keeps winning despite underwhelming game after underwhelming game. Like I said, sometimes it's better to be lucky than good. Tough loss for Vic. Daniel Jones (15) had his second worst game of the season. Tucker Kraft (4.0) tore his ACL. Keenan Allen and DK Metcalf combined for 8.7. And the Chiefs D/ST scored -1. Josh Allen (33.55) is David G's Muad'ib, as he leads him to victory once again.

Vic sits at 4-5 right behind Dylan. He's still in the hunt, but you'd rather be over .500 than under .500. Somehow David G is 7-2 and competing for a bye. Fantasy football doesn't make sense to me either.

- Tl;dr: Both teams underperformed, but, per usual, David G's opponent did worse.
- It wasn't all bad for Vic. Achane (16.6), Etienne (16.5) and Doubs (16.1) all had solid games.
- David G somehow won despite getting 0.0 and 0.5 from Boutte and Perine respectively...

Look Josh, I just need you to keep doing this for 7 more weeks. (Just dmed him)

DAVID M ABSORBS FIRST SHOT AND KNOCKS GEORGE OUT 177.8 TO 149.3

David M's midweek trade of Treyveon Henderson and Kyle Pitts for Rico Dowdle (28.1) helped him to victory here. (See, this is why you make trades @ the people who've never made one...) Quentin Johnston (15.3) returned while the MHJ (22.6) Brissett connection is paying dividends. JSN (22) missed his projection (24.5!!!), however. George had some big games from Herbert (32.2), Alec Pierce (19.0), and Mark Andrews (16.6), but the rest of his team failed to show up. These two teams are on opposite ends of the spectrum, David M's team is juiced and on the up at 5-4, while George sits in 10th place at 4-5, hoping that Breece Hall can drop 30 bombs the rest of the year.

- Tl;dr: David M has a really good team.
- David M's WR's popped off: Chase (17.1), QJ, MHJ, and JSN (alotta acronyms) combined for 77—half of George's points.
- With Deebo (9.4) getting middling production in the last few weeks, George's receiving corp has some serious deficiencies. Can Diggs (12.8), Sutton (10), or even Alec Pierce help George push for the 6th seed?

Can't believe David M got this guy on the cheap. Also WTF are those helmets?

CESAR PACES BEN, JUMPS TO 6TH SEED IN A 172.5 TO 138.15 VICTORY

I know I predicted Cesar to win, but I did expect more than that, Ben. Down week from Ben's big hitters. Mahomes (11), Cook (13.5), and Javonte (7.3) all disappointed. May he have won with Baun and Egbuka not on bye? Maybe. Cesar got some gems from DJ Moore (25) and Stafford (37.65) this week. Both these teams sit at 5-4 and in the playoffs. Luckily for Ben, PF is the tiebreaker, but this was a big win for Cesar. Oddly enough, these two teams made a major trade, which has been discussed extensively in the fantasy group chat.

- TL;dr: Good matchups (Saints, Cincy) helped Cesar get a big victory.
- A disappointing week from Kimani Vidal (3) and Bam Knight (6.7), but Jeanty (19.9), Puka (22.8), on his first week back, and McBride (16.5) helped Moore & Stafford across the victory line.
- Unfortunately for Ben, Tee Higgins (33.1) and Sam Laporta's (21.7) big games go to waste.

Always nice to stack your superstar WR with a great QB.

WEEKLY MATCHUP PREVIEW AND PREDICTIONS

PREDICTED MATCHUP OF THE WEEK: Devon v. Vic

- Devon's on here for the second time in a row, and Vic makes his first appearance. This game is extremely consequential. Devon's lost two straight and has loosened his grip on the 1 seed, which is a wide open race with 5 weeks left to go. On the other hand, a win would be huge for Vic; 7 teams sit at 5-4 or 4-5 (somehow the only two playing each other is Joey and David M!). A win could help break from the pack. Ultimately, I'm picking Devon.

Joey v. David M

- As of writing, Joey got a horrible 3 points from Will Lutz. David M has one of the best teams in the league, and you gotta get more than 3 points from your kicker to win. My pick is David M.

George v. David G

- Will the mickey mouse linsanity run end? I certainly think so. But, Courtland Sutton had his worst game in 5 weeks. Still, my pick is George to win.

Cesar v. Jolo

- Dobbins & Jeanty combined for 24.7 on TNF. I don't see any reason to not pick Cesar. Cesar won this week regardless, he finessed Ben.

Dylan v. Dejon

- 19.7 from Broncos Defense & Brock Bowers is disappointing, especially with Brock only getting 3. But I'm locking in 1-9, give me Dylan.

Ben v. Jhajuan

- Devin White gave a meager 8.25 points on a forgettable TNF game. I want to pick Ben, but he's starting 3 TE's (maybe that's why he did the trade?) and that goes against conventional wisdom. My pick is Jhajuan.

COMMISH PICK'EM'S RECORD:

3-3; call it, heads or tails?

- Last week picks:
 - I'm an idiot → Devon; Vic; & Jolo (sorry, cursed)
 - Called it → Joey; Cesar; David M (you're welcome)

MID WEEK TRADE RECAP:

- Cesar receives: JJettas, Javonte Williams; Ben receives: Jauan Jennings, Ashton Jeanty, & Jaylen Waddle
- Quick commish quip: Feel like Ben gave up the 2 best players. JJettas is the name brand but JJ McCarthy is his QB... we'll see. Interesting trade, couldn't say I would accept.
